Favorite Games for Addressing Speech and Language Goals

Preschool and Early Elementary Expressive Language and Social Communication

The following games are great for expressive and social language!

- Zingo
- Zingo 1,2,3
- Zingo Sight Words

- The Sneaky Snacky Squirrel Game
- Hoppy Floppy Happy Hunt
- Frankie's Food Truck Fiasco Game

- Catch The Fox
- Pop Up Pirate
- Funny Bunny

Try Modeling Some Phrases

Use these phrases to enhance expressive and social language for young children or children learning basic syntax, grammar, and social language:

- I/you have _____.
- I/you don't have_____.
- I/you need _____.
- I/you don't need _____.
- It's a _____.
- I got _____.
- I will spin.
- Here you go.
- This is for you.
- My/your turn
- Who has ____?
- Do you have _____?
- What did you get?

Siblings can be great models and while helping, they can improve their early academic skills as well!

Preschool and Elementary: Articulation

Try these games while working on speech sounds/articulation. Kids can say a target word or sound before each turn. Siblings will love playing too.

- Greedy Granny
- Pop the Pig
- Shark Bite

Late Elementary

Social communication, receptive language, expressive language, reading, and narrative language

These games can be used to increase a child's awareness of others' thoughts and help them to strategize accordingly. Model talking through your thoughts (e.g., I think I will move this pawn because if I don't someone might land on me and I will be sent back to start; I know you had a ship close by, so I will guess _____; I see you have 3 in a row here, so I will _____). Have students read directions and explain how to play the game.

- Sorry
- Battleship
- Connect Four

Expressive language skills (e.g., describing, formulating sentences) and questioning can be embedded into the following games:

- Stare
- Jeepers Peepers
- MagneTalk Match-up Adventure Kit (Super Duper Publications)

For All Ages

- Hide and Seek {Model questions and statements (e.g., "Are you in the _____?, Where is _____?, I think I hear _____., I will look behind _____.")}
- Scavenger Hunt {Hide silly items around the house or outside and give directions for finding them, or have kids ask questions (e.g., "Is the _____ in the living room?, Am I close or far away?")}
- Barrier Game with paper and crayons: Tell each other what to draw so that your pictures match when the barrier is removed. Be sure to include concepts such as big/little, on the top, in the middle, next to, etc.
- Simon (or your child's name) Says: Take turns being Simon
- I spy
- Twenty Questions
- Read, Read, Read!!! One of the best things to do with kids is read to them (even if they can read themselves). Label pictures; Describe pictures; Stop and ask questions; Make predictions; Talk about the characters' problems, feelings, and what they are planning; Discuss unfamiliar words; Keep a running list of new vocabulary words with definitions, synonyms, and examples of how to use them in sentences; have kids repeat or read words or sentences that include target sounds.
